A Message from the Principal

To our Walter G. Byers Elementary School families:

This is the first School Progress Report for Walter G. Byers Elementary. The purpose of this report is to keep families fully informed about our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment.

As you will see, Walter G. Byers had a composite proficiency rate on the state End-of-Grade test in math of 29.8 percent. Our fourth-graders had a composite proficiency rate of 20 percent on the writing test.

The state introduced a new reading test in 2007-2008. As a result of more rigorous expectations, reading scores declined across the state, including in CMS. Since the new test covers different material from that covered in the previous test, direct year-over-year comparisons are not necessarily accurate.

We did not make Adequate Yearly Progress, the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act. Our school had 13 targets to meet; we met seven.

So what are we doing to improve our students' academic progress? We will employ more hands-on instruction methods so that students will remain more actively engaged. We will use real-life objects, or manipulatives, in all subject areas to increase relevancy and meaning. We will also use data to drive our instruction at all grade levels. Students who are reading below grade level will be taught in small reading groups to help them master the skills.

CMS Accountability Measures

In this section, we are highlighting several key performance indicators for our school and its students.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID NOT make AYP
(7 of 13 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). State test results are used to set AYP proficiency targets for every grade. Targets are set for the school as a whole, as well as for nine separate subgroups. The subgroups are: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. A school's attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

The subgroup measurements are intended to prevent an overall score from masking poor results by one or more subgroups. Because the number of subgroups can vary depending on a school's diversity, the number of targets varies also. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have as many as 41.

AYP is an all-or-nothing standard that says every target must be met. No Child Left Behind also requires that every student be proficient by the 2013-2014 school year.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: Low Performing
(DID NOT meet growth expectations)

Proficiency: 26.6%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to better target school improvement efforts. Two basic measures determine a school's designation: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a set standard of proficiency.

Schools are given one of seven designations (in descending order): Honor School of Excellence; School of Excellence; School of Distinction; School of Progress; No Recognition; Priority School; Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 75.5%

Each year, the state sets individual growth expectations for each student. A student is expected to perform as well, or better, on the End-of-Grade (EOG) assessment for the current year as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. The Average Growth is calculated by comparing actual performance versus expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. A school classified as making expected growth would have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 34.0%

This measurement assesses whether students have learned as much as they are expected to learn in one year. Expectations are set for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed their growth expectation. High growth is defined as a score of 60% or higher and having met expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 73.7%

Narrowing the achievement gap is widely recognized as one of the biggest challenges in public education. The lowest achieving group for CMS includes certain minority groups and those receiving free or reduced-price lunch. If lower-achieving students grow at a faster rate than better-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the above percentage is higher than the Average Growth for the school (see Average Growth above), the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Student Surveys

Our School: 67.0%

Student feedback is a subjective, but essential, component of the measure of our school's performance. We want all of our students to have a caring, supportive environment at school. This is a measure of the positive reaction from our students covering the areas of school safety, engagement and encouragement.

CHARLOTTE-MECKLENBURG SCHOOLS

REACH FURTHER. Global competitiveness starts here.

Math instruction will be also be more focused and based solely on the North Carolina Standard Course of Study. Finally, we will provide more comprehensive services to students through our Exceptional Children's inclusion program.

Our faculty is strong with varying levels of experience. Many of our teachers are highly qualified. Our teachers will attend training often to help them stay abreast of research-based instructional best practices. They will also collaborate weekly to share ideas and discuss the best ways to carry out instruction in the classroom.

We will all continue to work on raising achievement. This year, we are offering Supplemental Educational Services, a free tutoring program offered to our economically disadvantaged students.

I am confident we will continue to see improvement in student achievement. Our goal is to make sure that your children receive an education that allows them to be successful and competitive on a global scale. We are committed to accomplishing that goal.

Sincerely,
Terri Edmunds-Heard
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections.

In this report, you will notice how our school performed in the 2007-2008 school year compared to the stated 2010 goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures with a specific emphasis on growth.

As educators and parents, we have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. This goal requires constant dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school with your questions, concerns or suggestions.
