A Message from the Principal

Dear Greenway Park Elementary School families:

This is the first School Progress Report for Greenway Park Elementary. We are sending this to you so that you may be fully informed about our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment.

Greenway Park had an excellent academic year in 2007-2008. We achieved High Growth in math, and our math composite proficiency rate was 73.8 percent for our third- through fifth-grade students. Data analysis indicates that our math proficiency has increased by at least six percent over the last three years. We continue to work diligently to increase the proficiency rate of all of our student subgroups. In addition, 58.5 percent of our students demonstrated proficiency in writing.

The state introduced a new reading test in 2007-2008. As a result of more rigorous expectations, reading scores declined across the state, including in CMS. Since the new test covers different material from that covered in the previous test, direct year-over-year comparisons are not necessarily accurate.

Greenway Park is a diverse school, serving students from more than 10 countries, as well as various socioeconomic backgrounds. As such, the school had 23 target goals to reach for Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP), the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act—and we met all 23 goals.

We are very intentional as we respond to the academic needs of our students. Initially, we analyze all available data to make decisions regarding staff development, programs and instructional strategies.

Currently, we provide instructional programs and strategies that address needs in math, literacy, science and social studies. Using the Intensive Reading program and math workshop, we provide

CMS Accountability Measures

In this section, we are highlighting several key performance indicators for our school and its students.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(23 of 23 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). State test results are used to set AYP proficiency targets for every grade. Targets are set for the school as a whole, as well as for nine separate subgroups. The subgroups are: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. A school's attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

The subgroup measurements are intended to prevent an overall score from masking poor results by one or more subgroups. Because the number of subgroups can vary depending on a school's diversity, the number of targets varies also. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have as many as 41.

AYP is an all-or-nothing standard that says every target must be met. No Child Left Behind also requires that every student be proficient by the 2013-2014 school year.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Progress
(DID meet growth expectations)

Proficiency: 67.4%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to better target school improvement efforts. Two basic measures determine a school's designation: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a set standard of proficiency.

Schools are given one of seven designations (in descending order): Honor School of Excellence; School of Excellence; School of Distinction; School of Progress; No Recognition; Priority School; Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 84.5%

Each year, the state sets individual growth expectations for each student. A student is expected to perform as well, or better, on the End-of-Grade (EOG) assessment for the current year as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. The Average Growth is calculated by comparing actual performance versus expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. A school classified as making expected growth would have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 67.0%

This measurement assesses whether students have learned as much as they are expected to learn in one year. Expectations are set for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed their growth expectation. High growth is defined as a score of 60% or higher and having met expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 84.3%

Narrowing the achievement gap is widely recognized as one of the biggest challenges in public education. The lowest achieving group for CMS includes certain minority groups and those receiving free or reduced-price lunch. If lower-achieving students grow at a faster rate than better-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the above percentage is higher than the Average Growth for the school (see Average Growth above), the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Student Surveys

Our School: 81.3%

Student feedback is a subjective, but essential, component of the measure of our school's performance. We want all of our students to have a caring, supportive environment at school. This is a measure of the positive reaction from our students covering the areas of school safety, engagement and encouragement.

differentiation, a flexible teaching approach that adapts the curriculum to individual learning needs. We also use co-teaching through inclusion and talent development.

Staff development is an integral part of meeting students' academic needs. Almost 25 percent of our students are English Language Learners, and our staff underwent training last year in a program that enriches academic language. We have also engaged in extensive writing training. We will continue to analyze data to identify staff development needs.

Effective team planning is another strategic focus. We will continue to give teachers time to discuss and plan the curriculum.

The school has a stable, highly qualified staff. Twenty-eight percent hold advanced degrees, and 21 percent are National Board certified. The average teaching experience is nearly 13 years. Although Greenway

Park opened in 1995, a number of our current staff opened the school with the first principal.

We are embarking this year on a new journey that we believe will enhance the empowerment and development of leaders among teachers and staff. Each staff member will help choose programs and initiatives. The administrators believe this initiative will also increase achievement.

Academic achievement is our core business. At Greenway Park, we all work diligently to attend to the needs of students and staff. This year, we are especially excited about the many opportunities ahead as we expose our students to a world of endless possibilities.

Sincerely,
Valerie Gray
Principal

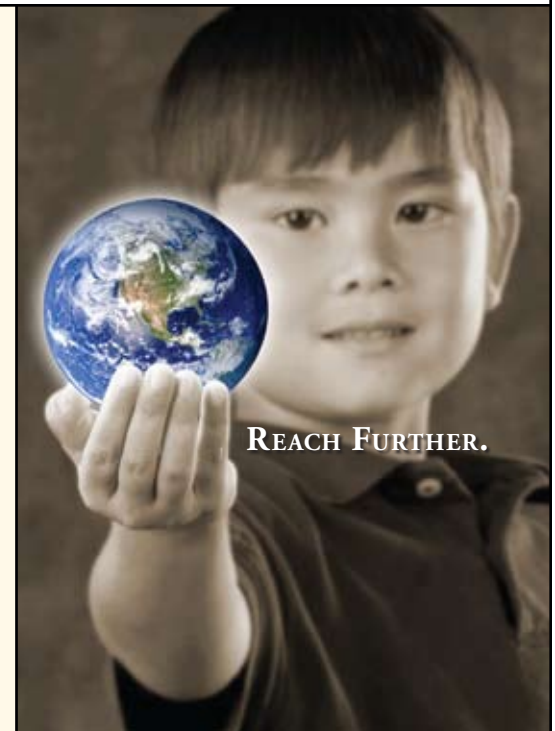

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections.

In this report, you will notice how our school performed in the 2007-2008 school year compared to the stated 2010 goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures with a specific emphasis on growth.

As educators and parents, we have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. This goal requires constant dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school with your questions, concerns or suggestions.
