

▶ J.V. Washam Elementary School

A Message from the Principal

To our J.V. Washam Elementary School families:

This is the first School Progress Report for J.V. Washam Elementary, part of our effort to keep families fully informed about our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment.

In grades three through five, 81.1 percent of students performed at or above grade level in the End-of-Grade tests. Equally encouraging, we saw significant growth of seven percent on the fourth-grade writing test. We are very proud of these achievements, and we look forward to making even more strides in the current school year.

The state introduced a new reading test in 2007-2008. As a result of more rigorous expectations, reading scores declined across the state, including in CMS. Since the new test covers different material from that covered in the previous test, direct year-over-year comparisons are not necessarily accurate.

There is still room for improvement in narrowing the achievement gap. We will continue to focus our instruction on the specific needs of each child, while ensuring that all students are held to high expectations.

Looking ahead, we will continue to meet the needs of our children through differentiated instruction, a flexible teaching approach that adapts the curriculum to individual learning needs. We are working to create an environment where teachers are treated as experts in their field and are able to interpret students' needs and create strategies to better support them.

CMS Accountability Measures

In this section, we are highlighting several key performance indicators for our school and its students.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID NOT make AYP
(12 of 13 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). State test results are used to set AYP proficiency targets for every grade. Targets are set for the school as a whole, as well as for nine separate subgroups. The subgroups are: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. A school's attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

The subgroup measurements are intended to prevent an overall score from masking poor results by one or more subgroups. Because the number of subgroups can vary depending on a school's diversity, the number of targets varies also. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have as many as 41.

AYP is an all-or-nothing standard that says every target must be met. No Child Left Behind also requires that every student be proficient by the 2013-2014 school year.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Distinction
(DID meet growth expectations)

Proficiency: 81.1%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to better target school improvement efforts. Two basic measures determine a school's designation: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a set standard of proficiency.

Schools are given one of seven designations (in descending order): Honor School of Excellence; School of Excellence; School of Distinction; School of Progress; No Recognition; Priority School; Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 82.0%

Each year, the state sets individual growth expectations for each student. A student is expected to perform as well, or better, on the End-of-Grade (EOG) assessment for the current year as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. The Average Growth is calculated by comparing actual performance versus expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. A school classified as making expected growth would have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 61.1%

This measurement assesses whether students have learned as much as they are expected to learn in one year. Expectations are set for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed their growth expectation. High growth is defined as a score of 60% or higher and having met expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 80.1%

Narrowing the achievement gap is widely recognized as one of the biggest challenges in public education. The lowest achieving group for CMS includes certain minority groups and those receiving free or reduced-price lunch. If lower-achieving students grow at a faster rate than better-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the above percentage is higher than the Average Growth for the school (see Average Growth above), the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Student Surveys

Our School: 89.2%

Student feedback is a subjective, but essential, component of the measure of our school's performance. We want all of our students to have a caring, supportive environment at school. This is a measure of the positive reaction from our students covering the areas of school safety, engagement and encouragement.

▶ J.V. Washam Elementary School

Our faculty is strong, and many of our teachers have National Board status and/or have gained master's degrees in education. We have a number of other staff members currently working toward certification or an advanced degree. Our teachers are passionate about education, both in teaching our students and in continuing their own education. This positive approach combined with a low turnover rate is an excellent formula for reaching our children successfully.

The environment we have created at J.V. Washam is another source of pride. Our emphasis on good behavior, manners and strong character among staff and students permeates our school. Such qualities together with a strong and supportive Parent Teacher Organization help us create a true school team (parent/student/teacher) that encourages children to succeed. Survey data shows that our school is safe, orderly and caring.

I am confident that we will continue to show progress in meeting all of our goals, while holding strong to the culture that we are working so hard to promote. On behalf of the faculty and staff, I thank all of our families for contributing to the success of J.V. Washam.

Sincerely,
Raymond J. Giovanelli
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections.

In this report, you will notice how our school performed in the 2007-2008 school year compared to the stated 2010 goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures with a specific emphasis on growth.

As educators and parents, we have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. This goal requires constant dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school with your questions, concerns or suggestions.

REACH FURTHER.
