

Pineville Elementary School

A Message from the Principal

Dear Pineville Elementary School families:

It is important to me to keep our Pineville Elementary families informed and connected through this, our first School Progress Report. It highlights our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment. It also addresses areas where we need to improve.

Pineville has made significant progress over the last three years. Our school community continues to improve its effectiveness through the combined efforts of our parents, students and staff. We are constantly introducing new teaching and learning strategies while not discarding older programs that are successful. There are only two types of schools: those that are improving and those that are in decline. I am proud to say that our school is on the road of continuous growth.

As you read this report, you will notice how many of our students are proficient in math, reading and writing. We met Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP), the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act, in 2006-2007 and met 26 of our 27 (96.2 percent) AYP targets in 2007-2008.

The state introduced a new reading test in 2007-2008. As a result of more rigorous expectations, reading scores declined across the state, including in CMS. Since the new test covers different material from that covered in the previous test, direct year-over-year comparisons are not necessarily accurate.

We are pleased to offer a variety of programs that meet the needs of all our students. Our school-wide Accelerated Reader program

CMS Accountability Measures

In this section, we are highlighting several key performance indicators for our school and its students.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID NOT make AYP
(26 of 27 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). State test results are used to set AYP proficiency targets for every grade. Targets are set for the school as a whole, as well as for nine separate subgroups. The subgroups are: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. A school's attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

The subgroup measurements are intended to prevent an overall score from masking poor results by one or more subgroups. Because the number of subgroups can vary depending on a school's diversity, the number of targets varies also. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have as many as 41.

AYP is an all-or-nothing standard that says every target must be met. No Child Left Behind also requires that every student be proficient by the 2013-2014 school year.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Progress
(DID meet growth expectations)

Proficiency: 75.5%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to better target school improvement efforts. Two basic measures determine a school's designation: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a set standard of proficiency.

Schools are given one of seven designations (in descending order): Honor School of Excellence; School of Excellence; School of Distinction; School of Progress; No Recognition; Priority School; Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 86.7%

Each year, the state sets individual growth expectations for each student. A student is expected to perform as well, or better, on the End-of-Grade (EOG) assessment for the current year as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. The Average Growth is calculated by comparing actual performance versus expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. A school classified as making expected growth would have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 76.1%

This measurement assesses whether students have learned as much as they are expected to learn in one year. Expectations are set for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed their growth expectation. High growth is defined as a score of 60% or higher and having met expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 85.0%

Narrowing the achievement gap is widely recognized as one of the biggest challenges in public education. The lowest achieving group for CMS includes certain minority groups and those receiving free or reduced-price lunch. If lower-achieving students grow at a faster rate than better-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the above percentage is higher than the Average Growth for the school (see Average Growth above), the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Student Surveys

Our School: 84.8%

Student feedback is a subjective, but essential, component of the measure of our school's performance. We want all of our students to have a caring, supportive environment at school. This is a measure of the positive reaction from our students covering the areas of school safety, engagement and encouragement.

► Pineville Elementary School

continues to provide motivation to read. It is our systematic commitment and the delivery of this program that have helped to improve students' reading proficiency. In addition, our Intensive Reading model has proven to be successful in supporting struggling students to reach benchmark goals and experience success.

When you visit our school, you will experience our warm, inviting and open environment. Our mascot is the Smiler, which symbolizes the joy of learning. We have been able to blend the strength of a small-town community with the benefits of being part of a large urban district. I believe success comes when teachers, parents and the community come together as a partnership to serve all students.

Our 32 classroom teachers are 100 percent highly qualified. We have two literacy facilitators, 11 regular-education teacher assistants, one Exceptional Children teacher assistant and four special-area teachers. All of our staff enjoy working with students in a safe, orderly environment that encourages academic success and character development.

I am confident that Pineville students will be ready to compete in the global economy of the 21st century. I am passionate and serious about leading Pineville Elementary. It is a challenging time to be an educator, student or parent. It is also an exciting time. Your awareness of the progress of our school and involvement in the educational process will help us better prepare our children for the future.

Sincerely,
Brian Doerer
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections.

In this report, you will notice how our school performed in the 2007-2008 school year compared to the stated 2010 goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures with a specific emphasis on growth.

As educators and parents, we have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. This goal requires constant dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school with your questions, concerns or suggestions.
