A Message from the Principal

To our J.W. Wilson Middle School families:

This is the first School Progress Report for J.W. Wilson Middle, part of our effort to keep families fully informed about our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment.

In the End-of-Grade tests, J.W. Wilson's proficiency rates were: NC Computer Skills test, 37.6 percent; writing, 36.5 percent, and math, 40.4 percent. In the End-of-Course algebra test, our proficiency rate was 89.7 percent. Our scores increased in 2007-2008 compared to the previous year. That is good.

The state introduced a new reading test in 2007-2008. As a result of more rigorous expectations, reading scores declined across the state, including in CMS. Since the new test covers different material from that covered in the previous test, direct year-over-year comparisons are not necessarily accurate.

We did not make Adequate Yearly Progress, the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act. We did, however, meet 26 out of 33 (79 percent) targets. On the state End-of-Grade tests, we made Expected Growth.

We are doing many exciting things to improve students' academic progress. We are introducing targeted training for teachers and we are forming professional learning communities. In addition, we are using data to monitor student progress and guide instruction. Technology will feature in every classroom to enhance the quality of our instruction. We have also designed common assessments to maximize student achievement, and we actively engage students using strategies based on Advancement Via Individual Determination (AVID).

CMS Accountability Measures

In this section, we are highlighting several key performance indicators for our school and its students.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID NOT make AYP
(26 of 33 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). State test results are used to set AYP proficiency targets for every grade. Targets are set for the school as a whole, as well as for nine separate subgroups. The subgroups are: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. A school's attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

The subgroup measurements are intended to prevent an overall score from masking poor results by one or more subgroups. Because the number of subgroups can vary depending on a school's diversity, the number of targets varies also. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have as many as 41.

AYP is an all-or-nothing standard that says every target must be met. No Child Left Behind also requires that every student be proficient by the 2013-2014 school year.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: Priority School
(DID meet growth expectations)

Proficiency: 36.1%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to better target school improvement efforts. Two basic measures determine a school's designation: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a set standard of proficiency.

Schools are given one of seven designations (in descending order): Honor School of Excellence; School of Excellence; School of Distinction; School of Progress; No Recognition; Priority School; Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 80.5%

Each year, the state sets individual growth expectations for each student. A student is expected to perform as well, or better, on the End-of-Grade (EOG) assessment for the current year as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. The Average Growth is calculated by comparing actual performance versus expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. A school classified as making expected growth would have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 55.9%

This measurement assesses whether students have learned as much as they are expected to learn in one year. Expectations are set for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed their growth expectation. High growth is defined as a score of 60% or higher and having met expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 80.2%

Narrowing the achievement gap is widely recognized as one of the biggest challenges in public education. The lowest achieving group for CMS includes certain minority groups and those receiving free or reduced-price lunch. If lower-achieving students grow at a faster rate than better-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the above percentage is higher than the Average Growth for the school (see Average Growth above), the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Student Surveys

Our School: 60.9%

Student feedback is a subjective, but essential, component of the measure of our school's performance. We want all of our students to have a caring, supportive environment at school. This is a measure of the positive reaction from our students covering the areas of school safety, engagement and encouragement.

AVID is a method of curriculum delivery and monitoring that focuses on the development of a college-ready culture. This prepares students for more rigorous coursework through organization, note-taking, questioning strategies, writing, inquiry, reading and group collaboration. As our students move on to neighboring West Mecklenburg High, they will continue to be immersed in AVID strategies. In support of our AVID program, the top executives of Fifth Third Bank have donated computers and, more importantly, 1,000 man-hours of tutoring for the 2008-2009 school year.

Our faculty is strong, and our teachers are highly qualified and experienced. J.W. Wilson is involved in the Leadership for Educators' Advanced Performance initiative, which provides increased opportunities to attract, retain and reward teachers. This will certainly help continue to raise our academic achievement levels.

Improving student performance is an ongoing effort at our school. We will offer students extra support through Supplemental Educational Services, including after-school tutoring and an End-of-Grade blast toward the end of the year to help students master the material.

We have a safe and orderly school, and I am confident we will continue to see improvement in student achievement.

At J.W. Wilson, our mission is to touch the character and reach the academic ability of every child, every day. We believe that children do not care what you know until they know that you care.

Sincerely,
Eric Ward
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections.

In this report, you will notice how our school performed in the 2007-2008 school year compared to the stated 2010 goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures with a specific emphasis on growth.

As educators and parents, we have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. This goal requires constant dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school with your questions, concerns or suggestions.
