A Message from the Principal

Dear Bailey Middle School community:

This is the second School Progress Report for Bailey Middle. We are sending this to you so that you may be fully informed about our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment.

Our students have made significant academic gains and improved their performance in reading and math. We have also seen improvement in the performance of our eighth-graders in the North Carolina Computer Skills test. As a result of our students' success, we are pleased to report that we made Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) in the 2008-2009 school year. This is the first time we have made AYP and we are naturally excited about our student's academic progress.

Outside the classroom, our students are equally successful. Last school year, our highly regarded band traveled to New York City to perform at the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts as a part of the President Abraham Lincoln Bicentennial Celebration. Additionally, our families hosted a group of French students and staff, which provided a wonderful opportunity for sharing cultural perspectives and expanding our students' global vision. We also arranged an Evening with the Arts to showcase the many talents of our students. Money raised from a silent art auction during the event was donated to local elementary schools to fund arts programs.

We encourage our students to be civic-minded and participate in community-service projects. For example, they collected more than 2,000 books for Classroom Central, supplies for the animal shelter and canned goods for the local food bank.

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(33 of 33 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Distinction
(DID meet high growth expectations)

Proficiency: 85.6%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 83.4%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 64.7%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 82.7%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	89%
	Encouragement	96%
	Engagement	94%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

► Bailey Middle School

The Bailey athletic teams continue to be highly ranked. We celebrate our various achievements and look forward to building on our successes.

While we are proud of our students' many accomplishments, we are not complacent and we are dedicated to increasing student success. Our teachers continue to analyze our students' work to find strengths and weaknesses and provide support where necessary. We use a variety of resources and strategies to address the needs of our diverse student population, and our goal is that all students will learn at high levels. We will continue to work collaboratively and diligently to achieve that goal. We embrace our challenges—just as we embrace our successes—and view them as opportunities to achieve more.

To achieve our goals for this school year, we are planning to expand our array of student services to give additional support where it is needed. Students may receive additional tutoring, homework help and small-group instruction. We are confident that providing students the individualized resources they need will continue to propel them forward.

Together, we are promoting and facilitating high achievement for all of our students. I look forward to working with each one of you and your children as we continue our tradition of excellence this school year.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Lee Dean
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.
