

► Community House Middle School

A Message from the Principal

Dear Community House Middle School families:

The purpose of this annual School Progress Report for Community House Middle is to provide you with an update on our students' academic progress, our vision for school improvement and information about our staff and our school environment.

I am pleased to report that Community House has earned the designation of Honor School of Excellence, the highest recognition under the North Carolina ABCs program. On the End-of-Grade tests, 91 percent of our students performed at or above grade level. In addition, 100 percent of our eighth-grade algebra students scored at or above grade level.

Our students are showing more growth in math than in reading, and while we want to continue the trend in math, we will focus more attention this year on reading comprehension throughout the school. All staff members are taking ownership of teaching reading and comprehension in every classroom, so we feel confident that we will achieve high growth in this area across all grade levels.

All subgroups did an exceptional job last year, and we managed to narrow the achievement gap in almost every area. As a result, we made Adequate Yearly Progress, the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act. Community House is a diverse middle school, which means we have many targets to meet for AYP—37, the most of any CMS school—and we met them all.

At Community House, we are proud of our staff, which includes 15 National Board-certified teachers and 41 percent with advanced degrees. Our staff turnover rate last year was extremely low at seven percent. Teachers enjoy working at Community House

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(37 of 37 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: Honor School of Excellence
(DID meet high growth expectations)

Proficiency: 91.2%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 82.9%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 62.3%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 75.4%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	80%
	Encouragement	94%
	Engagement	93%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

► Community House Middle School

because we pride ourselves on being a team. Teachers do not work in isolation, but in a supportive and nurturing environment. This kind of teamwork provides mutual peer support and ensures continuity in instruction.

Community House is a large school with more than 1,500 students, and we consider it crucial to provide opportunities for students to identify with small groups while finding a place within the larger school environment. We are planning to introduce several new strategies this year to ensure that we meet the social and emotional needs of our students.

Our vision for Community House is to move from good to great. We are constantly looking for new ways to push our students to higher levels. Our test scores are very good, but we recognize that there is always room for improvement. This year, we will include staff in our focus on learning on the basis that hand in hand, we will learn together. Research shows a direct correlation between adult and student learning in the quest for improved academic achievement. We are confident that our trajectory toward greatness can be sustained if we all acknowledge that learning is a truly lifelong goal for everyone.

Thank you for entrusting us with your children's education.

Sincerely,
Jamie Brooks
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.
