A Message from the Principal

To our Crestdale Middle School families:

I am pleased to share with you the annual School Progress Report for Crestdale Middle. This document provides information about our students' academic progress, the quality of our staff and our school environment.

Crestdale Middle School has been designated a School of Distinction and achieved a composite proficiency rate on the North Carolina End-of-Grade and End-of-Course tests of 88.7 percent. In math, 90.9 percent of our students demonstrated proficiency and 85 percent scored proficient in reading. We achieved High Growth in sixth- and eighth-grade math. On the End-of-Course algebra and geometry tests, 100 percent of students demonstrated proficiency.

In 2008-2009, Crestdale made Adequate Yearly Progress, the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act, by meeting all 33 of our target goals. In addition, we were recognized as a School to Watch by the National Forum to Accelerate Middle-Grades Reform. Teachers at Crestdale set high performance expectations while fostering a desire for excellence among our students. Our achievements last year were testament to our philosophy.

In order to ensure continued academic achievement this year, we are introducing various instructional strategies and best practices. We continue to offer inclusive practices for our Exceptional Children and students with limited proficiency in English. Reading instruction presents opportunities to develop vocabulary and build comprehension skills. Literacy skills are enhanced through novel-study and journal-writing.

Our teachers work collaboratively to make instruction meaningful and relevant to the individual learning levels of each student. We provide

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(33 of 33 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Distinction
(DID meet growth expectations)

Proficiency: 88.7%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 82.1%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 59.8%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 81.1%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	86%
	Encouragement	93%
	Engagement	89%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

► Crestdale Middle School

a number of academic-enrichment activities to extend student learning beyond the standard curriculum. In addition, we offer tutorial sessions before, during and after school.

Turning to character development, we organize school celebrations to reward positive behavior and academic achievement. Our students extend their service outside the school by volunteering in the community.

Crestdale has a highly qualified, enthusiastic and dedicated staff that understands the social and emotional needs of the middle school adolescent. Many of our teachers hold advanced degrees and are National Board-certified. Staff turnover is low, and several staff members have been at Crestdale since the school opened 10 years ago. The staff works closely as a team, using data to create lessons that are developmentally appropriate and meet the academic needs of all students.

We provide an environment that is conducive to learning, and we are proud of our safe-school audit score of 100 percent. It is very important that our students and staff feel safe at school.

Crestdale is a great school with a supportive parent body and community. We believe that student learning should be a shared undertaking. This is evident in the number of parents who participate in school functions and volunteer many hours of their time.

At Crestdale, our motto is, "We Dare to be Great." Motivated by that spirit, our students will surely be prepared to be competitive in high school and beyond.

Sincerely,
Rhonda Houston
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.
