A Message from the Principal

To our Oaklawn Language Academy families:

This is the annual School Progress Report for Oaklawn Language Academy. We are sending this to you so that you may be fully informed about our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment.

At Oaklawn Language Academy, we are proud to have remained true to our vision: "A Multilingual Window to the World." We seek to prepare students to excel academically in two languages, while they learn about many different cultures. Our highly qualified, diverse staff comes from all over the United States and the world: North America, Central America, South America, the Caribbean and Europe. Many of our teachers have left their families or have relocated with families to teach our children. This year, our Dual Language Immersion program has expanded to the middle grades and is offered in Spanish for K-6 students.

Oaklawn provides students with a global, world-class education so that they may be successful and competitive in our ever-expanding international community.

Oaklawn has received many accolades, including the School of Distinction award from the Magnet Schools of America in 2008, 2009 and 2010. I am also proud to report that our school has made Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) every school year since 2006. AYP is the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act. In the last school year, we achieved High Growth in math.

During the current school year, we have introduced some new courses. In our middle school program, we now offer band, art, career and technical education and French. Additionally, students in sixth grade are taking high school Spanish and advanced coursework.

► Oaklawn Language Academy

At Oaklawn, we seek to expand our students' knowledge of other cultures through interdisciplinary study. After studying African and Chinese cultures in previous years, our students learned about South America last year through music, storytelling, social studies, art and physical education.

Our staff is committed to providing a variety of learning experiences to broaden our students' knowledge, promote tolerance and respect and encourage mental stimulation and academic growth. The Oaklawn family is proud of the success of our Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports program. The entire staff works as a team to clearly communicate behavioral expectations to students and their families. From data and observation, it is evident that students are aware of safety and discipline routines and procedures.

Although our program has received numerous grants and awards, perhaps our greatest achievement is our ability to maintain a positive, upbeat and family-like environment. The rapport established among faculty, staff and families truly makes us unique. Furthermore, we have an active volunteer program and have received the district's most prestigious parent/community-volunteer distinction, the Sam Haywood Community Involvement Award. Oaklawn Language Academy is truly among the best-kept secrets in CMS.

Sincerely,
Patricia Moreira-Garcia

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2009-10 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On the final page, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

▶ Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(13 of 13 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

▶ ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Progress
(DID meet growth expectations)

Proficiency:	2008-09	2009-10
	79.1%	74.2%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

▶ Average Growth

State Standard	Our School:	2008-09	2009-10
80		82.3	80.1

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80 or higher.

▶ Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest-Achieving Group

Our School 2008-09: 82      Our School 2009-10: 79

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some economically disadvantaged and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the score for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

▶ Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard	Our School:	2008-09	2009-10
60%		59.2%	58.6%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

▶ Positive Responses to Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	2008-09	2009-10
Safety	83.9%	82.3%
Encouragement	87.2%	98.7%
Engagement	93.1%	89.8%

Is our school environment conducive to learning? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

▶ Return-on-Investment Index

CMS Elementary School Index: 50.9      Our School Index: 40.1

Return on Investment is calculated by comparing students' academic growth to the per-pupil expenditure. This measure is intended to help parents and community members understand how money is spent in our schools. Click here for more information.
